

What To Do If You've Been Scammed

As hackers increasingly use AI to steal our personal information it's good to know in advance what to do if you find that you have been victimized. The Internet Crime Complaint Center \(IC3\) is a website run by the FBI that is a great resource. In addition to highlighting the latest scams, it also has a way to file a complaint if you have been scammed.

Go to Home Page - Internet Crime Complaint Center \(IC3\) and click the button titled File A Complaint. After you file a complaint with the IC3, the information is reviewed by an analyst and forwarded to law enforcement and partner agencies as appropriate. The IC3 will not follow up with you.
